University Conference on Teaching and Learning:

Considering Ethics in Teaching, Learning, and Research

December 2006

This year’s topic was: "Considering Ethics in Teaching Learning and Research" with keynote speaker Michael A. Grodin, M.D., Professor of Health Law, Bioethics and Human Rights, Boston University School of Public Health; Professor of Socio-Medical Sciences, Community Medicine and Psychiatry, Boston University School of Medicine; Professor of Philosophy, Boston University; and Co-Director of the Boston Center for Refugee Health and Human Rights. Dr. Grodin's presentation considered the history of bioethics and reflected on why there is such an interest in the topic today. He also discussed the use of cases as a mechanism for teaching ethics and how to create active learners.

CELT works with the UCTFD and the UIT in the planning and implementation of the conference.
