EBOLA: Mutations, Markets, and the Military

Wednesday, November 5, 2014
The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy

Ian Johnstone Academic Dean and Professor of International Law
Ian Johnstone served in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General of United Nations before joining Fletcher. His research focuses on international organizations, the role of the UN Security Council, and peace operations. Johnstone continues to serve as a regular consultant to the United Nations Department of Peacekeeping Operations and Department of Political Affairs on an ad hoc basis. A citizen of Canada, he holds an LL.M degree from Columbia University and JD and B.A. degrees from the University of Toronto.

Dr. Gian Luca Burci Legal Counsel, WHO and Adjunct Professor, The Fletcher School
Professor Burci is Legal Counsel of the World Health Organization. Professor Burci has been Adjunct Professor of International Law at the Graduate Institute for International and Development Studies in Geneva since 2010 and Director of the Joint LLM in Global Health Law and International Institutions co-organized by the Graduate Institute and the Georgetown University School of Law. His research interests focus on the law of international immunities, the law and governance of international organizations, global health law and governance, and the role of the UN Security Council.

Dr. Rachel Glennerster Executive Director, J-PAL and Lead Academic, IGC-Sierra Leone
Dr. Glennerster’s research includes randomized evaluations of community driven development, the adoption of new agricultural technologies, and improving the accountability of politicians in Sierra Leone; empowerment of adolescent girls in Bangladesh; and health, governance, education, and microfinance programs in India. Between 2007 and 2010 she served on DFID’s Independent Advisory Committee on Development Impact. Before joining J-PAL, she worked at the IMF and Her Majesty's Treasury. She has a PhD in economics from Birkbeck College, University of London.

Dr. Alex de Waal Executive Director, World Peace Foundation and Research Professor
Alex de Waal is Executive Director of the World Peace Foundation and a Research Professor at The Fletcher School. Considered one of the foremost experts on Sudan and the Horn of Africa, his scholarship and practice has also probed humanitarian crisis and response, human rights, HIV/AIDS and governance in Africa, and conflict and peacebuilding. He also researched the intersection of HIV/AIDS, poverty and governance, and initiated the Commission on HIV/AIDS and Governance in Africa.

Dr. Nahid Bhadelia Director Infection Control at NEIDL, Professor of Infectious Diseases
Dr. Bhadelia’s specialization is in infection control issues related to emerging pathogens and highly communicable infectious diseases. Aside from her clinical training in infectious diseases, she has a background in international affairs/human security with a focus on the impact of pandemics on macro level health indicators and community security. Most recently, she has been part of the WHO operations in Sierra Leone to combat the Ebola outbreak in West Africa in 2014. She is an instructor for the CDC/FEMA healthcare worker preparedness course for the Ebola Response.